

About us

The value that dwp brings to our clients is great design.

At the heart of everything we do is the philosophy that architecture and design is simple, elegant and timeless.

For 25 years dwp has been a global architecture and design company that has completed award-winning work

Proud of our entrepreneurial spirit, we aren't afraid to push boundaries and face new challenges. dwp steps into the future with cutting edge collaborative, sustainable and creative design technology.

Currently located in Australia, Asia and the Middle East, we will extend our worldwide architectural and design services to the US and Europe by 2020.

Workplace expertise

dwp designs office spaces that not only ooze cutting edge creativity - for optimal use of space, workflow and light - but office spaces that help organisations achieve a competitive advantage by aligning workplace culture with digital transformation and modern work practices.

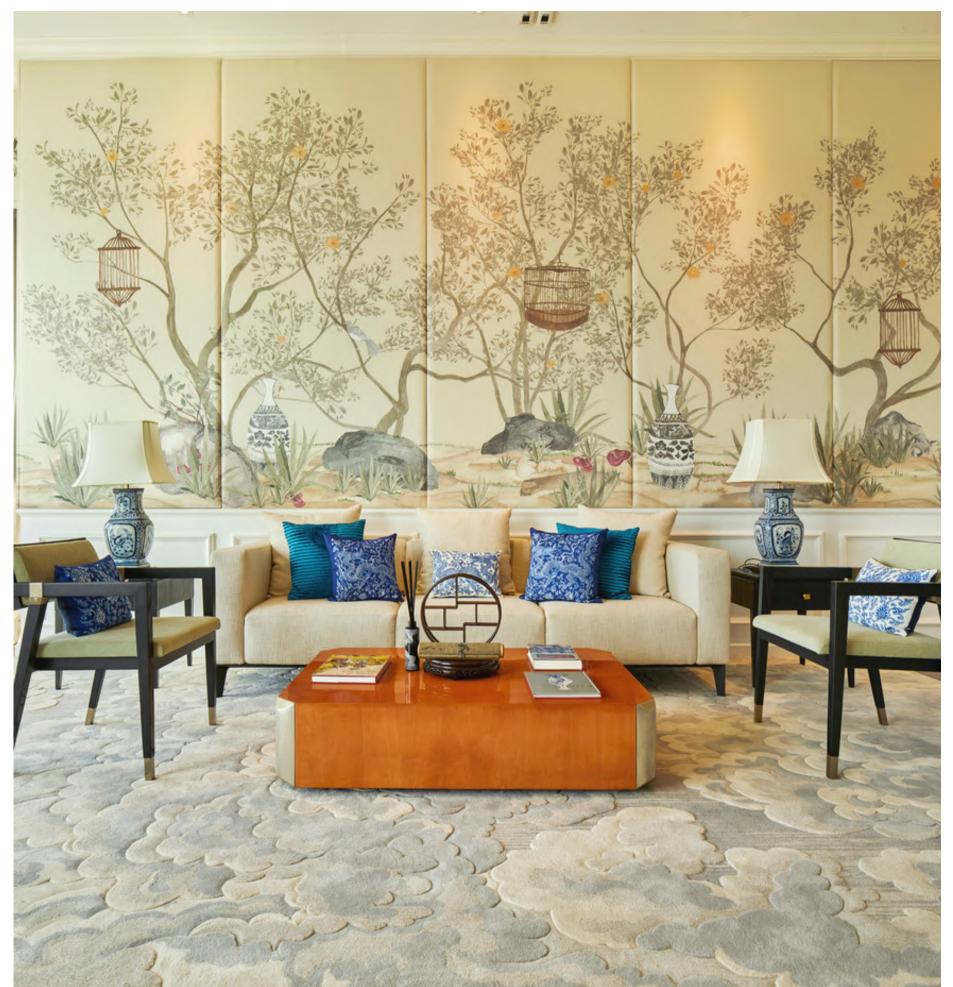

Our experience enables us to advise our clients on complex decisions about precinct planning, building type, size, shape, lift locations and enhancements. We design buildings that attract and retain tenants with the flexibility to adapt to changes over time. Our architectural and interior design addresses business essentials, delivering products that meet economic realities and market conditions.

dwp's clients benefit from our in-depth experience of designing commercial buildings, mixed use developments, business parks, workplace fitouts, refurbishments, adaptive reuse projects and major commercial towers. We have an expert team that includes specialist interior designers who are highly skilled in workplace strategy and design and can assist our clients in anticipating the changing nature of work and digital transformation.

Sustainability is integrated into all our projects with a range of energy and water saving options. Our qualified professionals guide our clients through ratings systems such as LEED, NABERS and GBCA Green Star.

dwp office designs are about win-win. Happier staff, more efficiency and, as a consequence, increased profits. Efficient technological infrastructure and collaborative workspaces are born from designs created for adaptability and functionality with a distinctive sense of place.

KBank Private Banking Office

Banking in style

In a big move for the corporate banking sector KBank asked dwp to design a very high-end, by invitation only, banking experience for their high net worth clients focused on customer service. A warm opulent welcome is created right from the lift lobby through to the concierge where statuesque French doors open into the comfortable and luxurious customer lounge. Although KBank's branding colour is usually green, this is the only KBank product to allow a colour scheme of taupe, browns and creams which offer a lush, rich environment.

The office is located on a very high floor in a prime location so the layout was planned to maximise natural light throughout and allow the stunning views inside. Beyond design, dwp pushed KBank - a traditional company - towards a modern office concept with a bar, a long countertop with power outlets for hot-desking and a café with a view. The result is an extremely functional and flexible office design.

Smart Dubai

Leading smart technology and sustainability

The Smart Dubai initiative is anchored in the vision of His Highness Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum, to make Dubai the happiest city on earth. To this end, the Smart Dubai department is introducing strategic initiatives that contribute to Dubai's governance, economy, quality of living, environment, people and mobility.

The Smart Dubai workplace incorporates cutting edge technology with the latest in sustainability measures, creating a workplace that encourages multidisciplinary collaboration through intelligent space planning, flexible workspaces and beautiful aesthetics.

Conceptually, the design takes inspiration from the desert winds rippling over sand dunes, articulated in the ceilings and shared spaces. This approach creates organic structures whilst emphasising movement and fluidity through the space.

McKinsey & Company

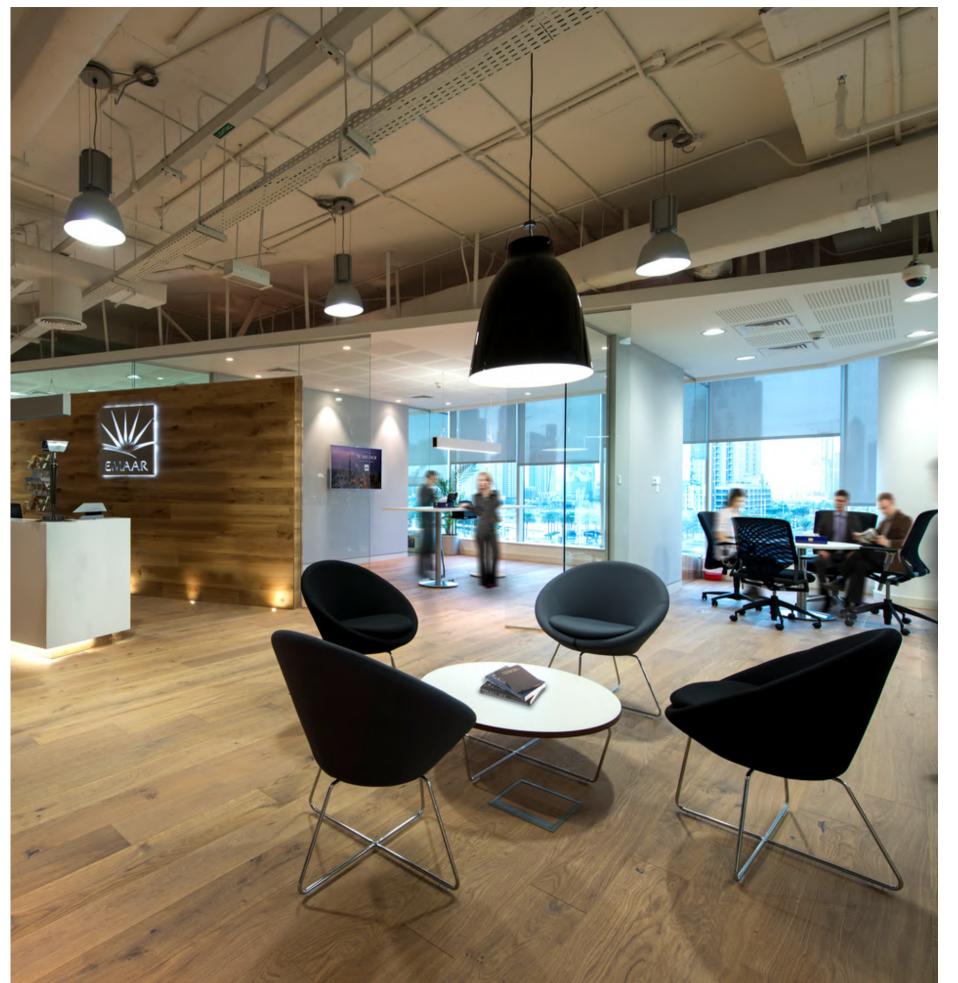

Professional digital hub

The largest consulting group in the world are 'passionate about innovation and impact'. They recently established a hub in Bangkok to expand their digital capabilities. dwp created a sleek, professional office in rich materials including marble and natural timber. Double glass partitions are effective for both sound-proofing the meeting and collaboration rooms as well as for heat-resistance and insulation. Design elements were inspired by a traditional Thai house with sashes of timber on the wall and the ceiling. Strips of inlaid gold give a dynamic, larger and in reflected with strip lighting design. Were used provides a luxurious feeling and is reflected with strip-lighting design. Warm wood provides a welcome to guests. The final look is corporate, professional, sleek and timeless.

Emaar Corporate Offices

Entrepreneurial spirit expressed in impactful design

This project demonstrates how design can reinvigorate a team and reenergise a Working with one of the world's largest property developers, dwp translates their vision of the future into an extraordinary design for today. Raw loft-style interiors feature long worktables, standing meeting rooms with an open communicative theme. The collaborative open plan workspaces flooded with daylight are a joy to work in.

The creative use of eclectic eco materials such as cork-lined walls which serve as pin boards in the meeting rooms, and full-height digital wallpaper, mirror the team's entrepreneurial ethos.

Pandora Workplace

Pride, passion and performance

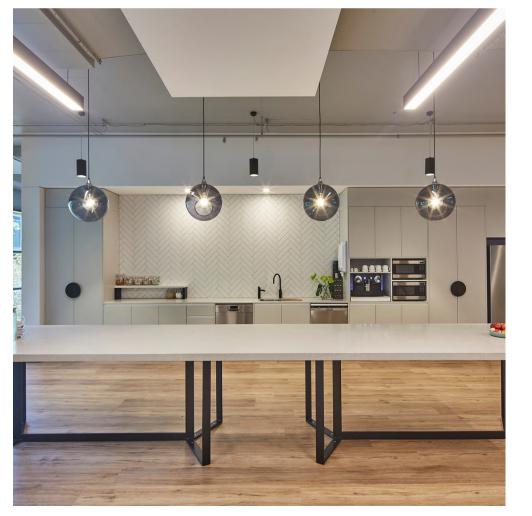

dwp's design reflects Pandora Danish origins combined with being a family held business with the ethos of pride, passion and performance at its heart. A combination of heritage and home was a key briefing requirement for the expanded workplace, combined with a warmer Scandinavian look and feel.

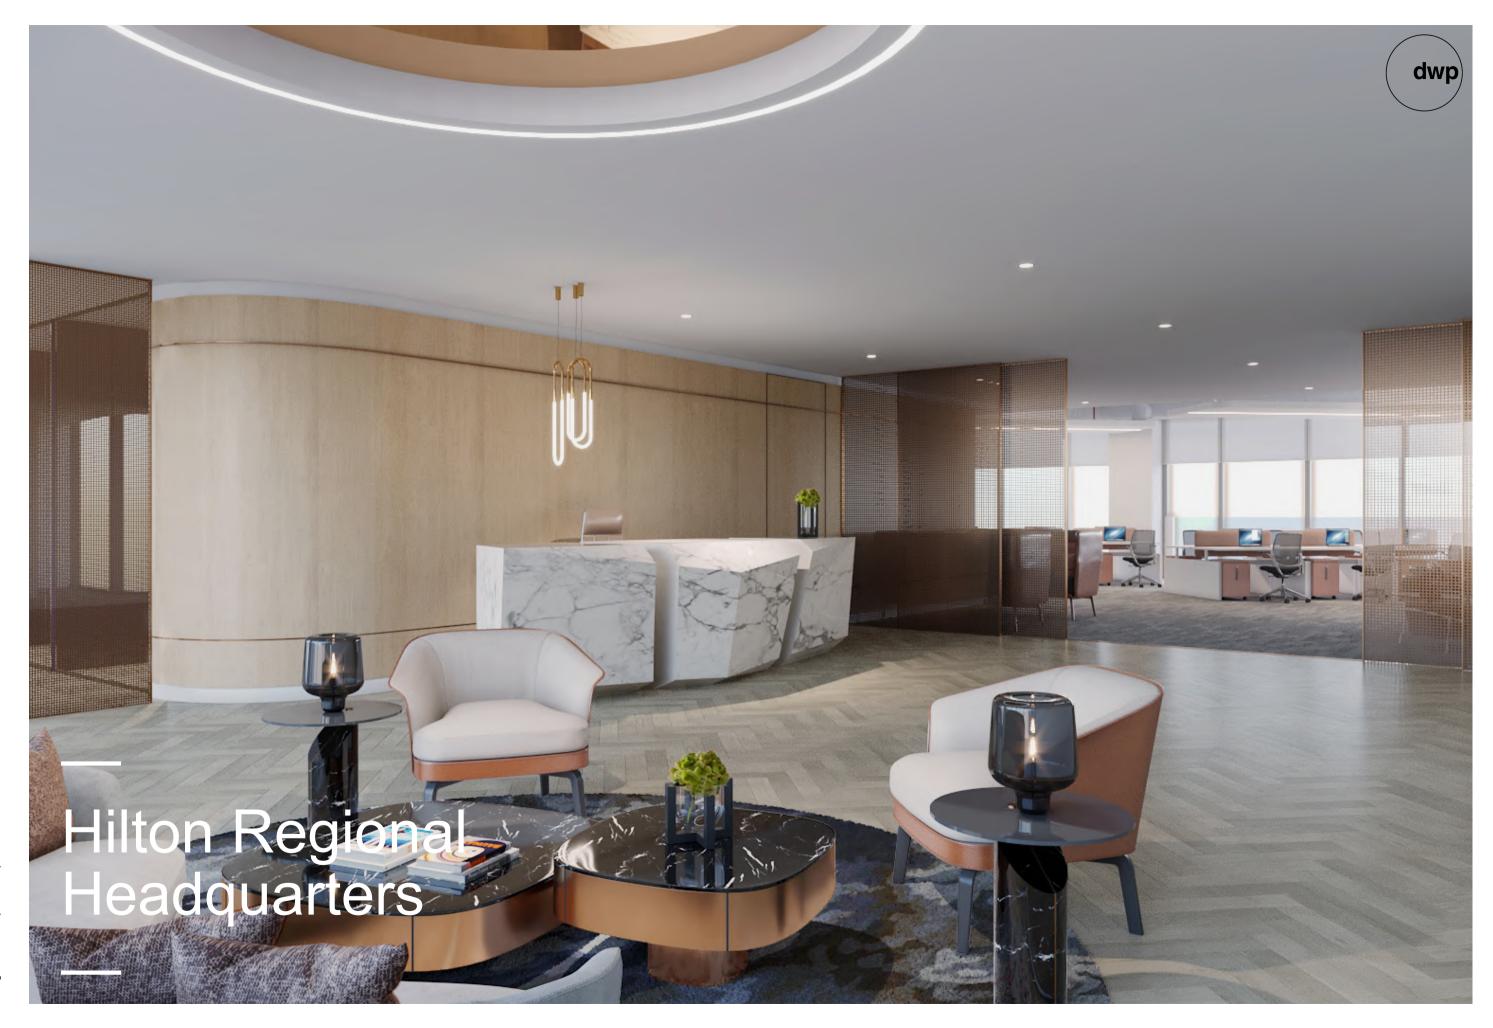

The existing workplace had a monochromatic palette with a distinctly separated floorplate due to a large central built zone. The project required two key issues solved- a more connected collaborative workplace combined with a greater visual connection to the retail side of the business.

dwp's suggestion was to include an intra-tenancy stair to connect to the expanded tenancy below. A rope feature between the floors adds a layering to the space, whilst introducing retail design elements from Pandora's flagship Melbourne store. The lower level provides meeting rooms, a large staff cafe and expanded training facilities for ongoing retailer training. The upper level was opened up through the core to connect the teams, increase the amount of informal meeting spaces and quiet rooms combined with increased staff workpoint numbers.

Hilton Regional Headquarters

Flexible interactive workspace dwp were invited and selected to provide the concept design services for Hilton Hotels & Resorts Regional Headquarters located in Level 4, Dubai Internet City. The 2,156sqm space was required to feature a president office, internal offices, conference rooms, huddle rooms and a number of hot desk seats and workstations, plus cafe and reception areas. dwp's primary aim of the design was to reflect Hilton's brand and vision whilst designing spaces that suit the working lifestyle of today's Hilton Team. The spaces designed by dwp successfully allow for flexibility and transformation of use, fostering increased interaction and collaboration between employees; whilst the welcoming reception area provides a true Front of House experience for every customer.

Department of Finance Offices, Government of Dubai

Sustainable, smart workspace dwp were appointed by the Government of Dubai to redesign two floors for the Department of Finance offices, located at the H.H. Ruler's Court, Dubai, United Arab Emirates. The development of the 25,000sqm space was to be designed by dwp from Concept stage through to Detailed Design including the fit-out of the project as well as supervision services during construction. Sustainability aspirations were to be strongly considered as part of the design concept as well as the brands desire to be a leader in workplace design. Innovative design, smart space planning and use of technology were all necessary to this workplace design to showcase competitiveness through design excellence.

National Bank of Bahrain

Sophisticated work flow

dwp were selected to provide full interior design services for a significant upgrade of the National Bank of Bahrain headquarters located in Manama, Bahrain. NBB is the country's leading provider of retail and commercial banking services with its headquarters housing approximately 400 employees across 4 floors. The refurbished offices were required to be seen as a symbol of NBB's continued desire to be a leader in providing a world class working environment to attract and retain the very best staff, optimize efficiencies in workflow and excel in the provision of best in class customer service.

dwp's interior design strived to create a strong sense of identity throughout the space with subtle and sophisticated use of brand colours as well as create an emotional connection with the use of supergraphics. Creative flair, innovation and smart space planning were all key to this design to successfully demonstrate a world class working environment.

Glowfish Office

Modern coworking community space

The Glowfish Office concept of 'Work, Play, Grow' sets a new standard for modern coworking space. The third branch of Glowfish Offices are located on the busy 19th and 20th floor of the Sathorn Nakorn building.

Glowfish serviced offices, ready-to-use meeting rooms (that can be rented hourly) and event spaces; serve high-performance local and international 'millenial' start-up companies, scaleup, SMEs and large organisations who need a temporary hub. dwp's innovative office design is conceptualised to increase productivity, support business growth as well as customers' lifestyle choices by creating a relaxed, creative interior with natural light, practical facilities, and a sustainable space.

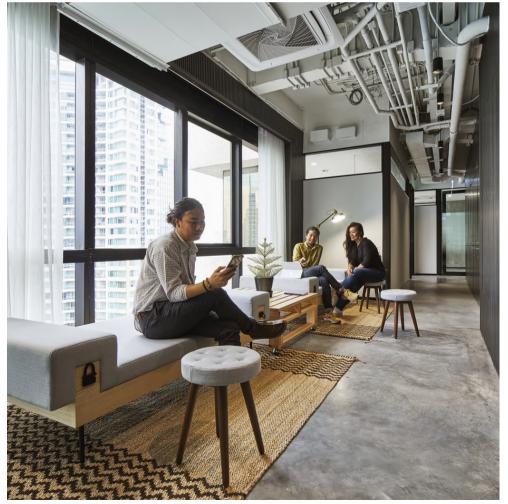

The design concept is a homey, urban lifestyle atmosphere that provides privacy and warmth. Industrial, raw and natural materials were mainly used for this project: concrete, wood, metal and a vertical garden to soften the environment, mood and tone. The active reception with barista bar and hot desk working area is a hub formed from concrete and surrounded by a natural, green environment. The design reflects the inclusive culture and partnership approach to working with clients. The reception opens up to the larger community space that provides a single location for staff to work, socialise and hold community events.

icare Workplace

An egalitarian city within a workplace

icare is about wellness: of people, business and the community; and their new workplace is designed to reflect their core values.

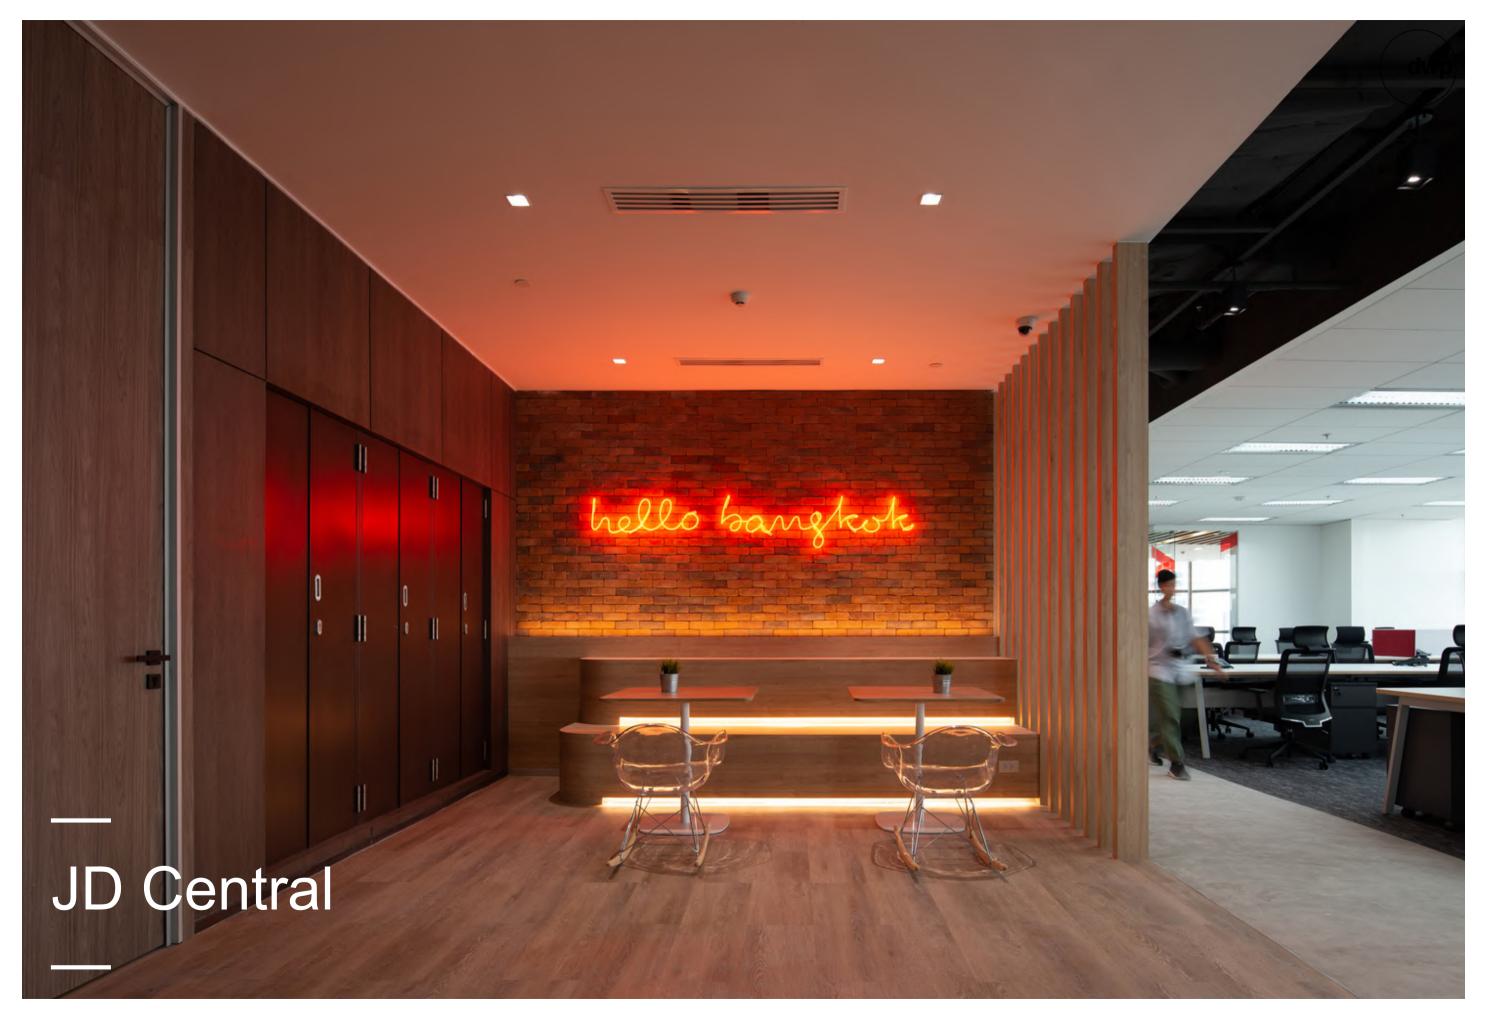

Bringing together four diverse existing business units from various locations throughout the Sydney CBD, we designed a cohesive workplace that provides strong connectivity, unified branding and supports cultural change. dwp's conceptual response is based on the metaphor of a town, offering precincts for different uses and civic spaces.

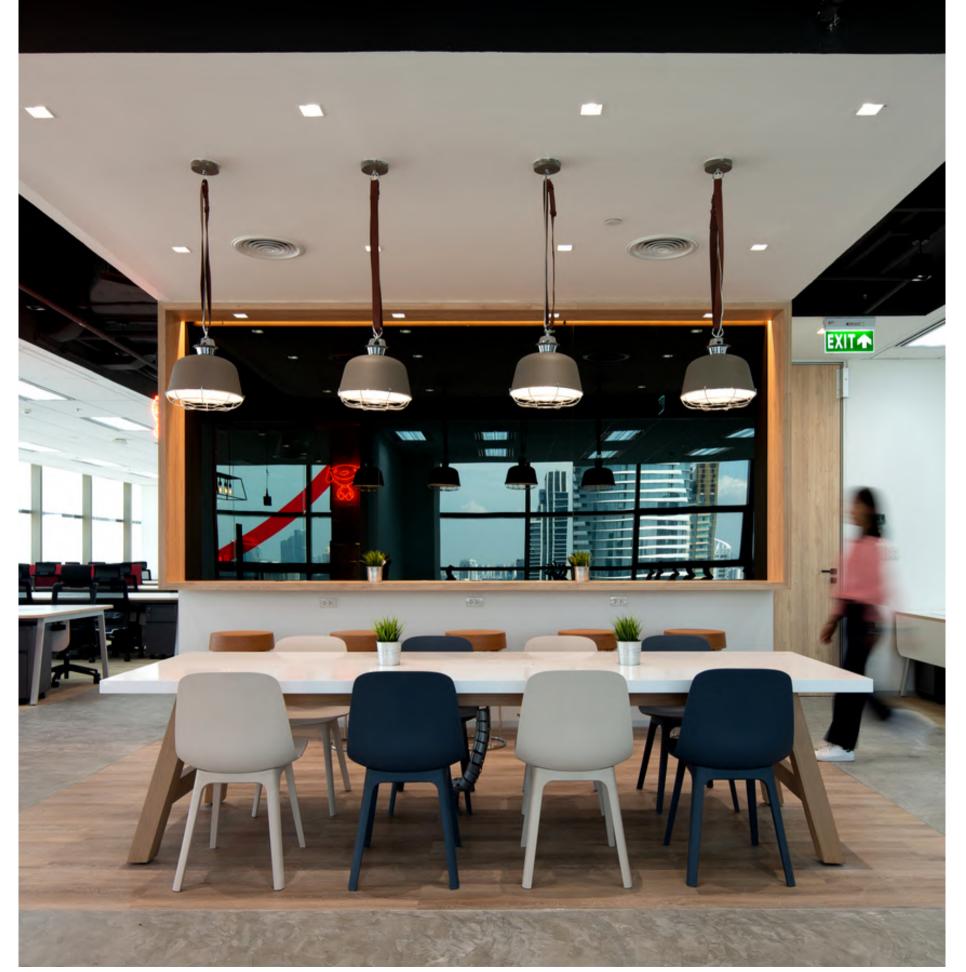

Designed for maximum flexibility to enable teams to join forces, the staff work areas are defined by home zones, supported by meeting rooms, collaboration spaces and utility zones arranged as a main street. This new 5.5 star NABERS rated workplace is helping to transform icare's culture from government silos to a united organisation with a commercial mind and a social heart.

JD Central

Joy in the city

dwp designed the Bangkok headquarters of the joint venture between Central Group and JD.COM; a Chinese e-commerce company. Big and successful with a young CEO they wanted a digitally themed, creative and dynamic office space.

The company's mascot is a smiling dog-character called Joy. Each workspace is developed around the theme of 'Joy comes to Thailand'. Everywhere around the office smiling Joy is found in different shapes, sizes and colours of neon lights. Joy in the city ('let's talk' meeting room with city views), Joy in the market (marketing office), Joy cafe/ pantry (staff kitchen), Joy in the park (lobby), with grass on the walls and views over Lumpini Park. Joy is 'groovy' in the games room with a ping pong table and flexible working space with views over Bangkok.

Materials reflect the young and dynamic, industrial-chic theme of white, pale timber and brick with splashes of red and black and neon lights and signs. Furniture is light, modern and funky. Sound absorbing acoustic panels are patterned in timber to be functional and also pleasing to the eye.

The One Office

The one and only

The One, formerly known as the One Card, is now a cardless platform. The major rebranding included logo, name change and a new office.

The challenge of the office design was to link three separate spaces to become, synchronistically enough, one. dwp linked the rooms together with glass doors and glass corridors. The design themes, even if different, were linked through materials to create a sense of cohesiveness and community. Each meeting room, for example, has a different character - from brightly coloured with hibiscus wallpaper, to a French café, to very modern meeting spaces where design features include exposed pipes and ceiling work.

dwp's expertise in the field of digital transformation was particularly helpful in the area formerly known as 'reception'. This was removed altogether and replaced with an Al interactive video wall with facial recognition. Although this is still a work in progress, Al video wall will know why you are there, which meeting visitors will be attending, and will happily introduce guests to the One platform.
